Section 5

(This section goes with Module 5: Dealing with Public Benefits)

As you plan for employment, you should set up an appointment with a Work Incentives Benefits Specialist in your area. The Resource Guide that goes with the on-line modules has information about what those people do and where to find one.

Taking the information you write down in this section of the Workbook will be helpful to getting your Benefits Analysis completed.

This is a very important step in your employment planning process. Get help with this step as needed.

1) What benefits do I have? (check all that apply)

- | | |
|---|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and Medicaid $ _____ | <input type="checkbox"/> Housing assistance $ _____ |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Medicaid through Medicaid Purchase Plan (MAPP) | <input type="checkbox"/> Heating Assistance $ _____ |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Medicaid through another source (for example through the county economic support office) | <input type="checkbox"/> Food Share $ _____ |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) $ _____ | <input type="checkbox"/> Other: |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Medicare | |

For benefits you get, list the amount per month. If you are not sure what benefits you have or the amount you get, ask someone to help you find out.

2) Do I want to ask my DVR counselor to include Work Incentives Benefits Counseling in my employment plan with DVR? Yes or No Explain why?

3) Where is the nearest Work Incentive Benefits Specialist(s)?

You can look up this information in the Resource Guide that goes with the on-line modules to find one near you.

4) What are my biggest concerns about my benefits?

Look back at Section 3 of this workbook if needed when completing questions 5-8.

5) The number of hours per day I would like to work: (circle your ideal number)

2 3 4 5 6 7 8

6) The number of days per week I would like to work: (circle your idea number)

1 2 3 4 5 6

7) My ideal number of work hours per week is:

10 15 20 25 30 35 40

Take your ideal number of hours per day and your ideal number of days per week and multiple to get your ideal number of hours you want to work each week.

(hours work per day) x (days per week) = _____ hours per week

8) How much money per hour do I want to make based what I know about the jobs I am interested in: (circle your approximate goal)

$7.25-$8

$8-$9

$9-$10

$10-$11

$11-$12

$12-$13

Other $ amount: _____

9) Approximate Monthly Income (calculate the following with help as needed)

Hours I want to work each week	<input type="text"/>
Multiplied by starting wage for the work I am interested in.....X	<input type="text" value="$"/>
Equals weekly income	<input type="text" value="$"/>
Weekly income $_____ multiplied by 52 weeks per year = $_____ (my yearly earnings amount) divided by 12 months per year = $_____ (my monthly income)

This is an approximate amount of money you will make each week, year, and month when you start working. Now, you can take this information to your benefits analysis with a trained Work Incentives Benefits Specialist to see about how much extra money you could have each month by working.

10) What things in life do I want that need extra money?

What I like to do or have:	Monthly cost:

Total Additional Money Needed: $_____

The following is a list of Work Incentives that you might want to find out about if you get Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI).

I receive SSI, and I am interested in learning about:

- Student Earned Income Exclusion - allows students who are working and under the age of 22 to earn a certain amount of income each month or each year without affecting their SSI payment.
- Continuation of Medicaid Coverage under 1619(b): allows SSI beneficiaries who no longer receive a cash payment due to earnings to continue their Medicaid coverage until they reach the state threshold of just over $32,000 per year in earnings.
- Impairment Related Work Expenses (or IRWEs): allow SSI beneficiaries to deduct the expenses of items or services for which they pay for that are related to their disability and needed to maintain employment.
- Blind Work Expense: allows SSI beneficiaries who are blind to deduct expenses for items or services need for work, but these do not have to be related to the person's visual impairment.
- Plan to Achieve Self-Support (or PASS): a written plan that allows people to set aside income that would normally reduce their SSI payment to purchase items or services to achieve a work goal.
- Property Essential for Self-Support: allows people who are on SSI to own resources and equipment necessary to be self-supporting with work or self-employment.

I receive SSDI and I am interested in learning more about:

- Trial Work Period: allows SSDI beneficiaries to test their ability to return to work for 9 months without affecting the SSDI payment.
- Extended Period of Eligibility: the 36 month period after the trial work months when a person can work and still receive benefits for any month that his/her earnings drop below Substantial Gainful Activity (SGA).
- Extended Period of Medicare Eligibility: allows SSDI beneficiaries to keep their Medicare insurance coverage for 7 years 9 months after using Trial Work Periods and continuing to work.
- Expedited Reinstatement: the period of 5 years after benefits stop that a person can ask to have his/her benefits restarted immediately if he/she stops working.
- Subsidies and Special Conditions: are supports or exclusions provided by employer, co-worker, service provider, or vocational rehabilitation that could be factored in when determining if a person is working at Substantial Gainful Activity.
- Impairment Related Work Expense: are expenses that a person pays for that are related to their disability that they need for maintaining work. These expenses are deducted from gross earnings when figuring Substantial Gainful Activity (SGA).
- Blind Work Expense: allows a person who is blind to deduct the expenses related to work when determining Substantial Gainful Activity (SGA). These expenses do not have to be related to the person's visual impairment.
- Plan to Achieve Self-Support (PASS): is a written plan that allows a person to set aside SSDI income, and begin to receive SSI and Medicaid, for a specified period of time to purchase items or services while they pursue an employment goal.

My Employment Goal and Team Planning Chart

Now it is time to look over all the information you have put into this workbook. Then, work with your team to create a list of steps you and your team members will take with a timeline for reaching your employment goal.

EMPLOYMENT GOAL:

The kind of job I want is: _____.

I would like to work about _____ hours per week.

I would like to make about _____ dollars each month.

TIPS for PLANNING for EMPLOYMENT:

Prepare ahead of time for your meetings.

- For each meeting: think about your progress, decide what you want to talk about, why those things are important, and team members to invite.
- You can look back at the information in Section 6 of this workbook to decide who is on your Employment Support Planning Team.
- It might be helpful to write out a list of the things you want to talk about or create an agenda for the meeting (with help if you need it).

At your meetings:

- Share the progress you have made on your employment plan.
- Ask your team members to talk about the things they have done to help you since the last time you met.
- Use the chart on the next page to keep track of the steps you and your team will take. Bring this chart to each meeting and fill it out with your team. Each time you meet, you and your team should look at the chart from the meeting before and figure out what you have done already and what your next steps will be. You and your team can make copies of the blank chart and use it as many times as you need to.

Good luck with your employment planning process!
